BONDSMAN HEAD OF KIDNAPERS
OF BANKER LUER

Officers Are Called Off
Of Hunt For Oklahoma City Man

St. Louis, July 25—(AP)—Michael Musiala, on whose farm near Madison, Ill., August Luer, wealthy Alton, Ill., banker was held five days by kidnapers has made a complete statement of his part in the abduction. Chief of Police Joseph Gerk announced today.

Musiala, Gerk said, named Randall Eugene Norvell, Nameoki, Ill., professional bondsman now held in jail at Benton, Ill., as the apparent leader of the kidnapers, and added that the release of Luer July 16, after efforts to collect $100,000 ransom had failed appeared to have been carried out against Norvell's wishes.

Musiala, the second principal to confess, was unable to name any other figure in the case except Norvell, but added that two other men were around the Musiala farm as guards while Luer was held prisoner in a small, musty cellar under a shed.

Norvell Rented Shed
Norvell, Musiala said, came to his home several weeks before the kidnaping and rented the shed, explaining he wanted to hide liquor in the cellar.

Some days later, he continued, Norvell came to his home at night, accompanied by two men who were escorting an elderly man—Luer. They placed the old man in the cellar and on remaining as guard.

While Luer was a captive, Musiala said, Norvell visited the place often, sometimes bringing food for the kidnaped man.

"The night of July 15," Musiala related, "the two men—Norvell's friends—came and got the old man and told me to fill up the cellar, and I did."

Threatened Killing
"Norvell came along later. I was asleep on the front porch and he woke me up. He asked what had become of the old man and I told him. He was angry. 'I'll kill those two,' he said, and cursed a lot."

Musiala, 43-year-old steel foundry worker and native of Austria, declared that his wife, also held in the case, knew nothing about the presence of the kidnaped man on their farm.

His confession supplements that of Percy Michael Fitzgerald, now held in jail at Murphysboro, Ill., that he, "Irish" O'Malley, a former convict, and Mrs. Vivian Chase, were the kidnapers who seized Luer, while Norvell drove the automobile.

Denies Connection
Norvell has steadfastly denied any knowledge of the kidnaping. Mrs. Chase and O'Malley are objects of a nationwide search.

Sheriff Grenier of Seward, Neb., notified police here today he talked briefly yesterday afternoon to a woman resembling Mrs. Chase and using her name, at a village near Seward. She was accompanied by a man known as Harry Chase, who police suspect may be O'Malley. Department of Justice agents from Omaha today were endeavoring to find the woman.

State's Attorney Geers announced at Edwardsville, Ill., today that the Madison county grand jury would be convened August 7 to hear the Luer case and every effort would be made to bring the case to trial in August or September. Geers declared he would demand the death penalty.

Federal authorities agreed to a trial in state court because the maximum penalty for kidnaping for ransom there is death in the electric chair. Maximum penalty in the only federal charge applicable to the case is 20 years in prison and a $5,000 fine, set by the Cochran Act against using the mails for extortion.

Little Boy, Murdered By Mutilating Operations,
Found In San Diego BayAuthorities Baffled By Revolting Murder
Of Child

San Diego, Calif., July 25—(AP)—The entire San Diego police department today searched for some clue that might lead to the slayer of Dalbert Aposhian, 7, whose mutilated body was found in San Diego Bay.

Others, worried concerning the safety of their children, organized to demand speedy solution of the murder. Telephone calls to city officials from representatives of one group of 100 women asked that the slayer and all of his kind be rounded up immediately.

Sailors crossing the bay yesterday found the body of the boy, missing a week from home.

Dr. F. E. Toomey, County Surgeon, said the boy's death was from "multiple mutilating operations." He said the body had been in the bay about four days.

Search Water Front
Chief of Detectives Harry Kelly assigned all his men to search isolated dwellings, shacks and lots along the water front and in other parts of the city. Many men, listed in police records as suspicious characters, were brought to the police station but none was held.

The boy left his home last Tuesday with a playmate. They went to a department store and looked at toys. Then they separated, Dalbert saying he was going to the park to visit the zoo. That afternoon he was seen in the neighborhood of the clearing establishment operated by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Aposhian. He did not go home, however, G. K. Rose, a taxi driver, saw the boy on a downtown street. Dalbert asked for permission to sleep in Rose's car, but a fare made it impossible.

Rose was the last person known to have seen the boy alive.

DIXON IS WILLING TO DIVIDE FUNDS
FROM FEDERAL AIDCity Council Recommends Roads At Amboy and
Lee and Lowell Park

The Dixon city council last evening, after listening to petitions presented by delegations of Amboy and Lee citizens, officially sanctioned a three-way division of any funds to be allotted to Lee county under the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act, estimated at about $34,000, and unanimously joined with the citizens of those two communities in recommending to the state Highway Department that the money be spent, when available, for asphalt pavement on Lowell Park Road; the highway from Lee to route 71; and the Amboy-Binghamton road.

It was pointed out that to hold out for cement on the Lowell Park road would require the expenditure of all of the county's share of federal aid on that highway; and Commissioners A. C. Moeller and J. H. Loftus, who told of their personal knowledge of conditions on the Lee and Amboy roads, said they believed these two roads as badly in need of improvement as the Dixon road. Supervisor D. H. Spencer of Dixon township also voiced his approval of the three-way division of the federal fund for asphalt pavements, after the matter had been presented in petitions submitted by Supervisor Gilbert Finch of Amboy and W. H. Vosberg of Lee.

The council's recommendation to

Mollisons Taken To New York In Hospital Plane Where They Will Seek Long Rest After Accident

New York, July 25—(AP)—The flying Mollisons, who set bravely out from Wales in their plane only to reach New York in a flying ambulance, settled down today for a "good long rest" and said little about their plans for the future.

Capt. Jim and the former Amy Johnson, stars of British aviation, arrived last night from Bridgeport, where their plane Searfarer was wrecked Sunday night within sight of the lights of New York.

They came as passengers—in a roomy cabin plane converted into a sky ambulance for the trip. They lay wearily back on white hospital pillows. A nurse and two physicians sat beside them. A four-plane escort of honor, led by Commander Frank Hawks, accompanied the flying couple.

Woman In Pain
Mrs. Mollison, clad in bright yellow, her light hair newly dressed, grimaced in pain. Her right hand and her legs were bandaged.

Capt. Mollison wore a bandage on his head, were 30 stitches had been taken. He appeared utterly tired. A woman in the crowd waved her hand and cried:

"Scotland, forever, Jimmie!"

Mollison, the Scot, raised his hand weakly and waved back.

"All we want to do is to go to bed for a good long rest," said Amy hugging a bouquet that the city's official greeter handed her.

They were put to bed in a hotel suite. The official reception will await their recovery. Meanwhile, they have expressed fear they cannot get a plane to continue their flight which was to have taken them to Baghdad and then back to England.

ITALIAN PLANES
TAKE AIR TODAY
ON FLIGHT HOME

One Ship Is Forced To Come Down In Maine
By Motor Trouble

BULLETIN
Shediac, July 25—(AP)—General Italo Balbo, leading his air armada on the return trip from New York, landed here at 1:55 P. M. (CST) today.

Two of the 24 planes were missing as the fleet arrived here, its first halting place east of New York, one of them having come down at Rockport, Me., with a broken oil line and the other at Milledgeville, N. B., short of fuel.

BULLETIN
Rockland, Me., July 25—(AP)—The Italian seaplane forced down here this afternoon by lack of oil took off at 1:52 P. M. CST, for Shediac, to rejoin the other ships of General Balbo's air armada.

During their brief stop here, the plane's crew loaded 10 gallons of oil.

BULLETIN
St. John N. B., July 25—(AP)—Twelve seaplanes of the Italian armada which left New York today passed over St. John at 12:55 P. M. (CST) flying east and well out over the Bay of Fundy.

Rockland, Me., July 25—(AP)—Forced down by a broken oil line, one of the 24 seaplanes of the Italian air armada led by General Italo Balbo, alighted on Rockland harbor today.

While the rest of the fleet continued on its flight to Shediac, N. B., the crew of the crippled ship went speedily about the task of effecting repairs.

One of the Italian officers indicated the mishap would involve only a slight delay. He said he expected his plane would join the others at Shediac, by 9 o'clock tonight.

New York, July 25—(AP)—General Italo Balbo led his 24 plane armada of the air on toward Italy today, leaving the seaplane base at Floyd Bennett Field, for Shediac, N. B., 650 miles away.

The first plane was in the air at 8:01 A. M. CST and the last at 8:18.

Because it has been General Balbo's custom to lead the way into the air on every takeoff of the long flight from Italy to Chicago and New York it was supposed this morning that he was the first in the air, and was so reported.

It was later determined, however that the order of takeoff had been almost completely reversed and that General Balbo was in the 20th plane to leave the water. The other planes circled over the field until the General and the planes leaving after him were in the air and then, with Balbo in the lead, flew away.

It was said the reversal of takeoff order was decided on because of the position of the planes in the inlet.

The Cathedral of Scville is the second largest Gothic edifice in Europe; it was dedicated in 1402 and contains the tomb of Christopher Columbus.

Criminal Kills Policeman In Chicago
Court

John Schack, 20-year-old confessed killer and bank bandit, mysteriously secured a revolver in an ante-room in the Criminal Court building, Chicago, where he was on trial, and in attempting to escape killed Policeman John Sevik in the crowded courtroom, then dashed down stairs and tried to shoot Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, but his gun was empty. He was shot and possibly fatally wounded in the act. The upper photo shows the courtroom scene of the killing; with the slain policeman lying in the aisle. In the lower left, Prosecutor Dougherty and Deputy Bailiff Jack Kavanaugh, whom Schack escaped from, are examining the killer's gun. John Schack is shown at the lower right.

Manhunt For Members
Bandit Gang Extended
To Three Iowa CountiesTwo Of Barrow Gang
Taken In Battle;
Trio Escaped

Sutherland, Iowa, July 25—(AP)—Officers spread out from Sutherland eastward through three counties to La Verne today in a renewed search for three members of the Barrow gang who escaped during a gun battle near Dexter, Iowa, yesterday.

A posse of federal, state and county officers raided a reported hangout of the gang in a ravine near here this morning but found no evidences of recent occupation. Several small posess, each with a machine gun, were working toward LaVerne but it was feared the gang may have escaped during the night into Minnesota or South Dakota.

The officials are seeking Clyde Barrow, Texas desperado, a woman companion and a man identified as Jack Sherman of Dallas, Texas.

Two Are Prisoners

In the fray yesterday, Marvin Barrow was seriously wounded and his wife taken prisoner. Barrow, in a Perry hospital, was reported slightly improved today, but physicians expected meningitis to develop from an old wound in his forehead. They held little hope for his recovery.

Heavily armed, the peace officers gathered here last night after receiving reports that the three fugitives had been seen in a stolen automobile headed for Sutherland, known to be in the vicinity of one of the gang's hideouts.

Shortly after 9 P. M. the officials charged the hideout in a ravine seven miles east of here but found no traces of recent occupation. Returning to town, they received orders from Park A. Findley, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation, to remain here and await further instructions.

ICKES CARRIES A BIG LOAD IN
CAPITOL OFFICE

Chicagoan, Cabinet
Member, Works 15
Hours Daily

Washington, July 25—(AP)—Secretary Ickes, public works administrator, works 15 hours a day administering the plan which is designed to put millions of men on 30 hour week jobs.

As Public Works Administrator and Secretary of the Interior, Ickes fills two of the biggest jobs in the administration. In addition he is a member of the Industrial Control Board and administrator of the chief executive's order forbidding shipment of illegal oil in interstate commerce; he also handles the "back to the farm" plan.

With so many varied problems demanding time, the secretary has devised time economizers. One is his arrangement for receiving callers.

He has a long private office, with his desk at one end. His callers are ushered immediately into this big room and seated at the other end.

Under this system, the callers—Senators or clerks—have a constant reminder of the number of waiters. It is not conducive to settling comfortably down for a long conversation.

Ickes leaves out his lunch entirely. He keeps his home address a secret, so that his time at home is his own.

As a matter of fact, he is home little, working often from 8 A. M. until 11 at night.

ANNIVERSARY OF A GREAT FLIGHT HAS
SIGNIFICANCE NOW24 Years Ago Bleriot
Flew Channel—Today
Balbo Starts For Italy

By DALE HARRISON

New York, July 25—(AP)—This is the anniversary of amazing adventure.

Twenty-four years ago today, on July 25, 1909, Louis Bleriot flew the channel.

From Calais, France, to Dover, England, is barely twenty-five miles. Bleriot flew it; and the day is an epochal anniversary.

(Balbo's fleet of planes flew from Italy to Illinois; nor did the towering Alps dismay them, nor the grumbling sea.)

Twenty-four planes . . . twenty-four years . . . Calais to Dover, Ortelio to Chicago . . . Bleriot to Balbo.

In between those years has been death. "Plane crashes, pilot killed"—"wing crumbles, plane falls"—"sea claims ocean flier." Those are the headlines.

But there have been other headlines, too; history headlines. "Flies Chicago to New York non-stop"; "plane aloft a week"; "Lindbergh lands in Paris." Those were the headlines.

Before Bleriot—six years before—there had been Orville Wright. He flew 120 feet, and dumfounded the world.

In four lines history is told: Orville Wright—120 feet. Louis Bleriot—The channel. Charles Lindbergh—The Atlantic. Wiley Post—The world!

They are the chosen quartet—Wright, Bleriot, Lindbergh, Post—soloists all, performing unforgettable symphonies in the skies.

Canadian air lines carried a total of 3,129,984 pounds of freight during 1932; it was the largest amount carried since 1929 and largely consisted of mining machinery going into the north.

It was once a common belief that "the moon affected the minds of human beings."

President Roosevelt Pleads For Cooperation Of All In Effort To Bring Quick End Of Unemployment

Washington, July 25—(AP)—Some of the things President Roosevelt said last night in his request for cooperation in the re-employment movement:

"The blanket (pay-raising, work-shortening) agreements which I am sending to every employer will start the wheels turning now, and not six months from now."

"This nation-wide attack on unemployment x x x will succeed if our people understand it. x x x it goes back to the basic idea x x x that people acting in a group can accomplish things which no individual acting alone could even hope to bring about."

"If all employers in each competitive group agree to pay their workers the same wages—reasonable wages—and require the same hours—reasonable hours—then higher wages and shorter hours will hurt no employer."

"In war, x x x soldiers wear a bright badge on their shoulders to be sure that comrades do not fire on comrades. x x x Those who cooperate in this program must know each other at a glance. x x x We have provided a badge of honor for this purpose, a simple design with a legend 'We Do Our Part.' And I ask that all those who join in this great summer offensive against unemployment."

5,000 PROMISES
RECEIVED TODAY
IN WASHINGTON

Response To Plea Of President For Voluntary Action

Washington, July 25—(AP)—Charter members of the Roosevelt "roll of honor" in the striving to better the times by boosting buying power enrolled in legions today by telegrams to the White House.

Preparing to take stock of his program's progress at a meeting with the "Recovery Council," President Roosevelt was described as highly pleased with the more than 5,000 pledges of support received before the day was half done.

The Postoffice Department made ready to post the "honor" rolls in its branches in every city and hamlet, so members of the community might know those employers who heeded the call that the President made last night to raise wages and restrict working hours.

Members of the cabinet and administrators of the major laws enacted since March, who comprise the "Recovery Council," gathered reams of material for review at the afternoon session in the executive offices. Whether the consensus taken will lead to any shifts of tack remains to be seen.

To Deliver Agreements
Starting Thursday, letter carriers will begin delivery to 5,000,000 employers the proposed agreements between them and Roosevelt voluntarily to raise wages and limit hours of work.

Immediately upon receipt, the employers have been asked to sign the mand return them to the President.

They become effective on August 1 or any time after they are signed. Upon presentation of the agreements at the local postoffice, the employers will receive the National Recovery Administration's insignia bearing the initials N. R. A., an eagle and underneath the inscription "We Do Our Part."

This is intended to be displayed prominently by all cooperating businesses.

The month of August ends the voluntary part of the plan.

Beginning September 1, the President, under authority of the recovery act, can order into hearings all industries which have not then submitted wage and hour codes.

After these, arbitrary limitations can be fixed.

His appeal was terse:

Made Terse Appeal
"We are not going through another winter like the last. x x x It is time for courageous action, and the recovery bill gives us the means to conquer unemployment. x x x"

"The proposition is simply this: 'If all employers will act together to shorten hours and raise wages we can put people back to work. No employer will suffer, because the advance by the same amount for all. But if any considerable group should lag or shirk, this great opportunity will pass us by and we will go into another desperate winter. This must not happen. x x x"

"I ask that even before the dates set in the agreements which we have sent out, the employers of the country who have not already done so—the big fellows and the little fellows—shall at once write or telegraph to me personally at the White House, expressing their intention of going through with the plan."

Sounded Warning
The President's address served clear warning that selfish interest is not going to be let stand in the way of the re-employment drive, and that he is satisfied the blanket agreement is fair to all.

"There are, of course, men, a few of them, who might thwart this great common purpose by seeking selfish advantage," he said. "There are adequate penalties in the law, but I am now asking the co-operation that comes from opinion and from conscience. These are the only instruments we shall use in this great summer offensive against unemployment."

Mary Miles Minter's
Mother Mishandled
Mary Miles' Money?

Los Angeles, July 25—(AP)—Mary Miles Minter, demure actress of silent films, will be called upon to decide whether she wants to prosecute her mother on a charge of mishandling her money.
As Superior Judge C. S. Burned yesterday sentenced a bond salesman convicted of embezzling $40,000 from Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, mother of the former actress, he recommended that Mrs. Shelby's financial affairs be investigated.
The bond salesman, Leslie B. Henry, former president of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses committee, was sentenced to two to 24 years in San Quentin prison. Henry told probation officers he had helped Mrs. Shelby conceal from her daughter many securities purchased with Miss Minter's earnings.
No charge has been preferred against Mrs. Shelby and no complaint issued.

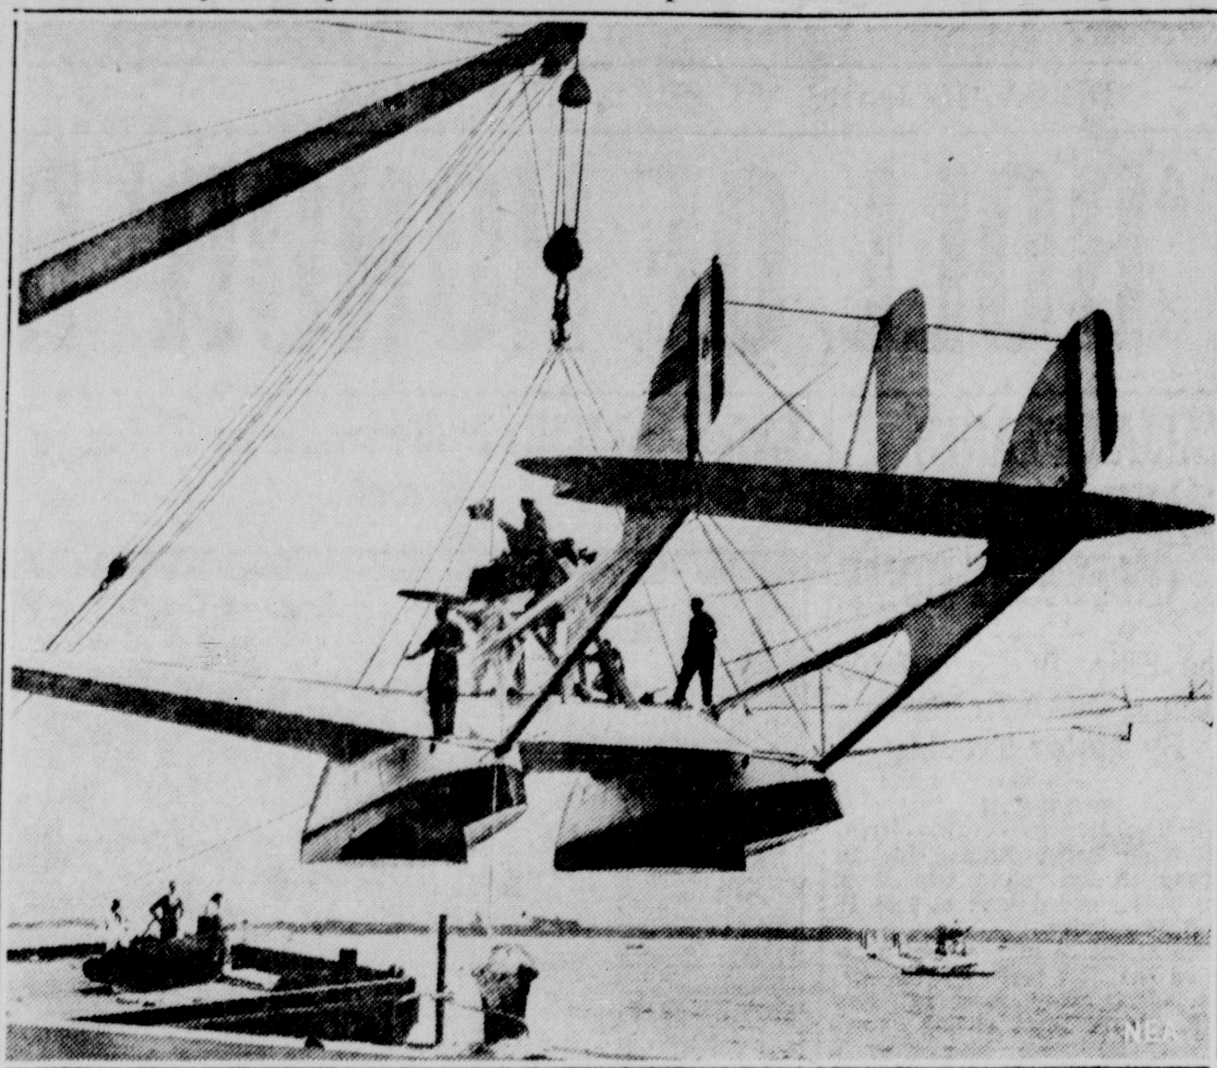

National Recovery
Act Dawn Of Better
Era Says Educator

Chicago, June 25—(AP)—Dean William H. Spencer of the University of Chicago's school of business, today said the national industrial recovery act marked the dawn of a new and enduring era in the relationship between business and government.
Speaking before the meeting of the Heating and Pipe Contractors' Association, Dean Spencer said both government and business would have to make changes.
"The principles and practices of the organization and administration in business are certainly not what they should be," he said.
"In the field of government, largely because competition has not forced developments, the principles of organization and administration are by comparison with those in business, pitifully antiquated."

Asks Injunction
Against Illinois
Sales Tax Today

Springfield, Ill., July 25—(AP)—A court attack on the validity of the two per cent state sales tax was started in the Sangamon County Circuit Court today with the filing of a petition for an injunction to restrain collection. The petition was filed in the name of Gus Reif, a Springfield furniture dealer, and, presumably, is not connected with the suit contemplated by the Council of Illinois Merchants.
The case was presented to Circuit Judge L. E. Stone who set 9 A. M. Monday as the time for a hearing on the motion for a temporary injunction.

See Repeal In Offing
and Seek Favorable
Tariff Laws

Washington, July 25—(AP)—Foreign powers already are clamoring to get favorable treatment for their wines, whiskies, and beers in case the eighteenth amendment is repealed.
France and half a dozen other nations have sounded out American officials in London and Washington on the possibilities of tariff trades on alcoholic beverages.
The line up of Tennessee, Arkansas, and Alabama for prohibition repeal, many diplomats say, has persuaded them that the American market will be opened to liquor imports by the end of this year. Naturally, they want information about the tariff policy this government will adopt in connection with foreign beverages and concessions, if they can get them.
Portugal, Great Britain, France, Spain, Germany and Italy were the countries from which the United States extensively imported pre-Prohibition beverages.
The imports of alcoholic drinks into the United States in 1913 totaled over 17,000,000 gallons with a value of $20,743,129.

DIXON IS WILLING TO DIVIDE FUNDS
FROM FEDERAL AID

The state Highway department was made in the following resolution, passed without a dissenting vote:
"Whereas, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Lee has endorsed the use of funds to be allotted under the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act for construction of certain roads in Lee County, as follows:
"Lowell Park Road, 20 ft. cement with 6 ft. shoulder.
"Lee to Route No. 71, 10 ft. concrete, 8 ft. gravel, 6 ft. shoulder.
"Amboy-Binghamton Road, cement 18 ft., 6 ft. shoulder.
"And, Whereas, it is estimated that the amount of money to be made available for the construction of said roads will be approximately $34,000.00, and that it will not be sufficient to complete the roads above mentioned if constructed by the use of cement, but the said roads could be fully completed with asphalt, and
"Whereas, the interests of the three communities directly affected by such proposed roads and the general welfare of the County will be best served by the immediate construction of all of said roads; therefore
"Be It Resolved by the Council of the City of Dixon, that we hereby endorse the plan which has been proposed that said roads be constructed by the use of some suitable asphalt material to be specified by the Division of Highways of the State of Illinois, and the Department of Public Works and Building of the State of Illinois is hereby requested to make provision for the use of such Federal funds as become available in the construction of the roads mentioned of an asphalt material at a cost within the amount to be allotted from the Federal fund for use on the roads above described."

Just before adjournment, and after considerable discussion, the commissioners reconsidered and reversed their action of last Monday evening in awarding the city's liability and workmen's compensation insurance to a company represented by Edward Graybill and re-assigned it to one for which Charles Long is the local agent. The average premium on the class of the city's insurance amounts to about $1,300 yearly. Commissioner Loftus alone opposed the action.
The council granted permits for the erection of two signs in the business district and instructed the City Clerk to notify all owners of signs which hang over sidewalks that bonds for such must be filed with the Clerk before next Monday evening.

Solo Flight Soon

Chicago, July 25—(AP)—Lieut. Com. T. G. W. Settle will make a solo flight to the stratosphere, acting both as navigator and scientific observer on the balloon ascension from Soldier Field, Chicago.

Definite announcement was made today that Settle will go it alone. Dr. Jean Piccard withdrawing from active participation that more scientific instruments may be packed aboard the spherical gondola. It had been planned originally that Dr. Piccard or his brother Auguste, veteran of two European stratosphere ascensions, would make the hazardous flight.

The time of the takeoff from Century of Progress grounds has not yet been fixed, awaiting a certainty of favorable meteorological conditions.

Aged Colored
Woman Found
Wandering Here

Sheriff Fred Richardson was today preparing to file information in the County Court charging feeble mindedness against an aged colored woman, who gave the name of Mary Wilhelm, and who, it has been disclosed, has been roaming the Illinois Central right of way between Woodstock and Amboy for over a week.
The aged "mammy", who was taken in custody by the Sheriff Sunday afternoon, admits she "must be lost" and says she doesn't know how old she is. She told the Sheriff she left her home in the Ozark mountains last fall to visit her sister, but she doesn't remember where her sister lives.

Elgin Dentist Found
Strangled In Home

New York, July 25—(AP)—Dr. E. Warren Sylla, 60-year-old dentist, a native of Elgin, Ill., was found dead today in his apartment at 21 East 90th street, a gag over his mouth, a sheet around his neck and his hands tied.
The body was found by the dentist's maid and an elevator operator.

Police believe that the dentist surprised burglars ransacking his apartment and that he either was strangled by them or was suffocated by his gag.
Dr. Sylla had shared the apartment for the last five years with Frank S. Nute, an architect, who is away for the summer.

MYSTERIOUS DROWNING
Bloomington, Ill., July 25—(AP)—A sixteen hour fight to save the life of Albert Stevens, 12 year old inmate of a charitable home at Normal, Ill., failed today at 8:25 A. M.

Physicians were uncertain of the cause of his death and an autopsy is anticipated. The boy dived through an inflated tube into four feet of water in the Y. M. C. A. pool Monday. When he failed to come up, his brother Jack rescued him. Officials said the boy was under water not more than a half minute. A fire department inhalation squad kept him alive throughout the night he died today.

Hoffman Family Reunion Held at the Old Homestead, LaMoille

A reunion of the Hoffman family was held at the old homestead, located a few miles southwest of Sublette, Lee County, on Sunday July 16th, 1933, in honor of their cousin, Mrs. Taylor Dawson, of Pasadena, Calif., who is visiting here.

The Hoffmans are one of the early families settling in Illinois, having owned the old homestead since 1845. The original settlers were from Germany, and there has been a Hoffman living on this farm ever since. Clarence E. Hoffman of the third generation occupying it at the present time.

The second generation consisted of seven boys and three girls. Two of the girls passed away in infancy. The eldest daughter passed away several years ago. One of the boys, F. W. Hoffman, residing in Pico, California, was called last fall. Of the other boys, Henry Hoffman lives at Fargo, N. Dak.; Philip Hoffman, at Rockville, Ind.; and Julius Hoffman, in Chicago. They could not be present.

Among those present were: Geo. Hoffman, and daughters, Mary, Amanda and Laura, son Dan, wife Nora and two children, Harold and Marietta, of Walnut, Ill.; Ben Hoffman and son Robert, Rockford; Steve Hoffman, wife Sarah and daughter Myrtle, of Dixon; Ezra Hoffman, wife Mary, and daughter Florence of Mendota; Myrtle Rapp, husband Chester Rapp, and three children, Olive, Milton and Ruth of Sublette; C. E. Hoffman, wife Irene, and son Lee, living on the homestead north of LaMoille.

The other relatives were Mrs. Taylor Dawson of Pasadena, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. John Gutting and Henry Arnold of Ottawa, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Easter of Mendota, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. William Easter and daughter Ruth, of Sublette, Ill. The friends present were Mrs. Lydia Ruedy, Mr. and Mrs. B. Katzewick and son, Harry, of Adelaide; Miss Henry Wendel, Miss Anna Harlan of Mendota; Mrs. John Truckenbrod, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Angier, Sublette, and Mrs. Nettie Garland, Dixon.

The hostess was very ably assisted by Mesdames Wendel, Angier and Garland in serving a very delicious picnic dinner. There were mashed potatoes, fried chicken, gravy, vegetables, salad, sandwiches rolls and other good things too numerous to mention. Last but not least, there was delicious home made ice cream and cake as well as plenty of good coffee.

A short program was given. There was a solo by Olive Rapp, accompanied by her aunt, Florence Hoffman, on the cello. Several readings by Amanda Hoffman and Marietta Hoffman.

The day was ideal for the reunion and everyone enjoyed the great out-doors, visiting and rambling around the farm viewing the crops and seeing the livestock. Many of the guests had not met for many years, which made the gathering an added pleasure to them.

Sisters Are Brides In Double Wedding

Two Polo sisters were brides in a double wedding Sunday, solemnized at 4:30 o'clock at the home of their uncle, the Rev. John Beck, pastor of the Methodist church at Pearl City.

The brides were Miss Miriam Beck who was married to Harry Folk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Folk of Polo and Miss Helen Beck who was married to Robert Isenberger of Lanark.

Mrs. Folk is a registered nurse, a graduate of the Deaconess hospital at Freeport. Mr. Folk is manager of the Phillips oil station at Polo.

Mr. and Mrs. Isenberger are to reside with the former's grandmother, Mrs. Hester Isenberger, of Lanark until September when they will go to Polo to make their home. Mr. Isenberger to become associated in business with Mr. Folk.

The two couples will defer their wedding trip until later in the season when they will go to Chicago to visit A Century of Progress.

Marv Says She Has No Divorce Plans

Reno, Nevada, July 25 (AP)—Reports Mary Pickford planned to establish a divorce residence in Nevada were without direct confirmation today, although J. W. Dignan, member of the law firm which represented her in a suit for freedom from Owen Moore in 1920, said she had been here recently.

(In Hollywood, Miss Pickford, whose separation from Douglas Fairbanks was announced several weeks ago, said she had no divorce plans. "I have not been in Nevada and I give you my word of honor there is nothing in this report that I have made divorce plans," she said.)

Information from a usually reliable source said the film star conferred with attorneys here two weeks ago and completed plans for a divorce residence.

Dignan parried questions with the declaration: "You should have asked Mary all about her plans when she was here." The attorney said he had not seen Miss Pickford.

Mrs. Ray Fisher Entertains Club

The South Dixon Community Club met at the pleasant country home of Mrs. Ray Fisher, on route 89 on Wednesday afternoon, July 19th.

Many new songs were sung. After roll call a business meeting was held and it was decided to hold the annual picnic on the following Sunday, July 23rd, at the William Remmers home.

Mrs. Bessie Moore and Mrs. Eva Beard were awarded the two last friendship quilts.

A very interesting program was in charge of Mrs. Eva Beard.

Mrs. Walter Ortgiesen and Mrs. Arnold Gottell assisted Mrs. Fisher in the serving of delicious refreshments.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks with Mrs. David Moore, south of Dixon, on route 89, on Wednesday afternoon, August 2.

With linen so chic, and satin rapidly becoming ever so popular, a combination of the two makes one of the smartest ensembles of the season. A sleek navy blue satin dress and a yellow linen jacket, with full shoulders, is an ideal summer tailor.

The buttons on the shoulders of the jacket and on the novelty belt add the required note of fantasy. The ensemble is topped with a suave yellow linen hat, banded in navy.

"The challenge of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is to so inculcate the principles underlying prohibition into the customs of society and the laws of the land that the Kingdom of Jesus Christ may come in the world and this will be done."

The convention meeting proved to be one of the most interesting meetings of the year and closed with thoughts of courage and faith for the year's work.

Helps for Housewives

Lunch For Motor Tour Prepared Night Before

The lunch for the motor tour can be prepared the night before and stored in the refrigerator. Sandwiches made with egg relish, cheese, meat filling or ham—used sparingly—are good. Pickles, fruit juices, oranges and plums are good thirst-quenchers supplementing the vacuum bottle. Cookies, candy bars and slices of loaf cake are sweets easy to serve. Waxed paper for wrapping, and plenty of paper napkins for serving should not be overlooked.

To Launder Organdie

To launder organdie, first squeeze it out several times in lukewarm water and mild soapsuds. Do not twist, rub or wring it, lest the fine threads break and cause holes. No starch is required. After laundering roll the damp garment in a bath towel and let it stand an hour. Then iron with low heat, laying a damp cloth over the unironed parts. Hang up at once after ironing.

Her First Doll

The child's first doll should be about 12 inches long, washable and unbreakable, with painted hair. It need have no clothes at all at first but plenty of different colored squares of cloth for wrapping it and carrying it about. A little later it may have a single garment which can be pulled on over its head and which is held in place about the neck by an elastic.

Tired of Baked Apples?

Prepare Them This Way If the family tires of the ordinary way of preparing baked apples, this change may tempt the appetites of all. Stuff the center with walnuts, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, add a little honey and water and bake. This dessert will keep well in the ice box.

Summer Breakfast Bread

Cut bread very thin and place in the oven. It will become crisp and curly, making a nice change for the summer breakfast from toast or muffins.

WERE GUESTS AT HAZELWOOD, SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Boyer and family of Chicago visited Hazelwood, the Walgreen home, Sunday. Mr. Boyer is Mr. Walgreen's private secretary.

WERE DINNER GUESTS AT COFFEE SHOP

Mrs. Geo. Van Inwegen, Mrs. F. J. Rosbrook and Mrs. H. U. Bardwell were Sunday dinner guests at the Coffee Shop.

ARE GUESTS AT WM. CINNAMON HOME

Miss Rose Whalen and Douglas Mack of Galesburg are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Cinnamon.

MRS. BEARD GUEST IN ROCKFORD TODAY

Mrs. Harry Beard is the guest of Mrs. Ernest Swartz, her daughter, at the Mau-Nah-Tee-See Golf links today, in Rockford.

JOHN C. PIPPERT GUEST AT HOUSE PARTY

John C. Pippert, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pippert of Sterling, and well known and popular in both Sterling and Dixon, has been a guest at a house party given at the home of Joseph Paulson of Milwaukee on the lake. The house party included the reunion of three former college chums of St. John's Military Academy, John Pippert, Joseph Paulson and Norman Roska, all doing well in the business world now. And present at the house party was Miss Lorraine Roska, fiancée of J. C. Pippert, and sister of Norman Roska.

MRS. McLAREN AND DAUGHTER HOME FROM CALIFORNIA

Mrs. I. E. McLaren and daughter Nancy returned Friday morning from a delightful visit of six weeks in Flintridge, Calif. Mrs. McLaren's former home, Flintridge is a suburb of Los Angeles. They visited relatives and friends there, and in other cities, also, and spent a happy two weeks in Catalina Islands.

Scheme to Stimulate the Appetite

Use a big wooden mixing bowl and mix your salad at the table. Watching the process is such a fascinating sight that it whets the appetites of your guests. That's because it actually starts the digestive juices working.

MRS. JULIUS MILLER EXPECTED FOR VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Eichler of N. Hennepin Ave., are expecting Mrs. Julius Miller of New York City for a visit at their home. Mrs. Miller, who was Miss Pearl Lebowich, of Dixon, before her marriage, will arrive Saturday evening.

MOTORS TO BLOOMINGTON TO MEET DAUGHTER

Rev. C. Lee Stauffer, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Rovey, motored to Bloomington today to meet his daughter, Miss Bernice Stauffer of Fairfield, Ill.

TO BE GUEST OF MRS. CATHERINE O'NEAL

Dr. and Mrs. Cloyd of Chicago motored to Dixon Sunday, bringing her mother, Mrs. J. E. Greenman, to be the guest of Mrs. Catherine O'Neal. Dr. and Mrs. Cloyd returned to Chicago Sunday evening.

ATTENDS PARTY IN DE KALB, TO SPEND WEEK THERE

STERN REMEDY NEEDED FOR KIDNAPING.

No society in which kidnaping for ransom becomes as common a racket as it has become in the United States recently is offering its citizens anything very substantial in the way of security.

No crime emphasizes the helplessness of a community as does kidnaping. There will always be human passions that will result in murder, there will always be desperate men who commit robbery, there will always be weak men who commit forgery and defalcation, there will always be gamblers and panders and confidence men. The most society can hope to do is keep such crimes at a minimum.

But kidnaping is different. It cannot be an organized racket unless the society in which it thrives has demonstrated its utter inability to protect the lives and persons of its citizens. Its appearance is the gravest symptom that the machinery of law enforcement can display.

Today we have just about reached a point at which we must discuss some extremely revolutionary revision of our whole system of law enforcement.

Police methods could not be more disorganized than they are now. From New York down to the smallest hamlet, each police force is entirely independent. There are 48 states, each with a separate jurisdiction. The powers of the federal government to co-ordinate and direct the war on crime are very limited. The cards are stacked in favor of the racketeer. He could not ask for a better setup.

The editor of the Daily Post-Tribune of LaSalle, Ill., recently suggested to President Roosevelt that changes be made in the law so that federal agents could take a hand in all kidnaping cases, and not just in those where the victim is transported over a state line. This is an excellent proposal, but it may be that we need to go even farther than that.

It may be that we need to follow Attorney General Cummings in his scheme for a nation-wide federal police force. It may be that we need to surrender our old fondness for local independence and make every cop in the land part of a great, centralized organization, just as we have already put our national guard under federal authority.

It is perfectly obvious that we have got to do something. The kidnapers could not operate as they have been operating if the existing machinery had not proved its utter inadequacy.

FARM COLONIES TO AID OUR CITY WORKERS.

One of the most interesting of all the experiments the Roosevelt administration is going to make will be its venture in "subsistence farming" for industrial workers on the fringes of big cities.

A $25,000,000 fund is available for this work, and the first colonies will be established soon. What the stunt will amount to is simply this:

Land will be obtained on the edge of a city and will be subdivided into small farms of one, two or three acres. A small home, perhaps to cost $3000, will be established on each plot. In the middle of the colony will be a store, a playground and social hall, and the like.

Occupants of these homes will be industrial workers from the city. Each family will have enough land to raise vegetables, chickens and a little fruit—and, possibly, to keep a cow. And the idea is that these workers will not only get the benefits of fresh air, open country life, and so on; they will be far more independent of the uncertainties of industrial life than any workers can possibly be under ordinary conditions.

If the factory that employs one of these men shuts down, for instance, the man doesn't starve. He stays at home, raises his own food, keeps his expenses down to a very low minimum—and has, on the whole, a pretty fair sort of time.

Furthermore, while he is working he has his own source of supply just the same. The arrival of the shorter work week gives him ample time to cultivate his garden and look after his place. He does not need to spend as much on his day-to-day expenses as he did formerly. His money goes farther. He is more secure in every way.

That, at any rate, is the theory; and it looks as if the $25,000,000 that will go into this experiment will be money very well spent.

To be sure, it may not work out as expected.

It is quite possible, for example, that it will painfully narrow the market for the regular farmer. It may lead the worker into debt and give him more worries than he already has. There are half a dozen ways in which it may prove impractical.

But the experiment is very much worth making. It may be that a big part of the solution to the modern worker's problem is to be found in some such thing as this, and it is tremendously encouraging to know that Uncle Sam is going to spend money to find out about it.

Runaway prices would eat up consumption power while it is aborning; we will not tolerate them. Nor will below-cost selling do any good.—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator.

I do not believe there will ever be an opportunity for women in flying the mails.—Mrs. Phoebe Amalie, aviatrix.

Daily Health Talk

THE RUNNING EAR

The human hearing mechanism is a complicated structure consisting essentially of three portions: the external ear, the internal ear, and the middle ear.

The internal ear is that portion of the mechanism which is concerned with the translation of sound into nerve impulses, while the external and middle ears are concerned with the reception, modification and transmission of the sound waves which reach the ear drum.

The middle ear is subject to infectious processes. Through separation from the outside by the ear drum which stretches across the ear canal, the middle ear is indirectly in communication with the exterior through the Eustachian tube, which runs from the middle ear to the throat.

Through this channel the middle ear may become invaded by bacteria and may become involved by a variety of inflammations.

When so affected, the middle ear may become filled with pus which may accumulate and rupture the ear drum.

Such an inflammatory condition is usually very painful. At times when the diagnosis is made early, it is desirable to puncture the ear drum, in order to relieve the pressure of the pus and to establish drainage.

When the surgeon opens the ear, the results are better than when the ear drum ruptures spontaneously. For the surgeon selects the most appropriate site for the opening and his incision tends to heal more promptly.

Once the middle ear has become affected by an acute inflammatory process, it is important that treatment be prompt, or else the condition may become chronic.

Effective treatment of the ear condition may also call for radical treatment of the nose and throat to remove any possible obstruction to ventilation of the Eustachian tube.

ME AND MYSELF

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

"Who are you, my dear?" a fond mother said to her little girl, half in fun, but half in pathos, too, feeling that her child was strange and far away. Opening her blue eyes in surprise, the child replied: "I am me—your me, Mummy"; and the gentle arms held her close.

All through the ages men have been trying to solve the riddle of Me and Myself, but they have not done it. William James, my dear teacher in days gone by, drew a clear distinction between the two. Me, he said, we mean the part of us which others see, know, and estimate.

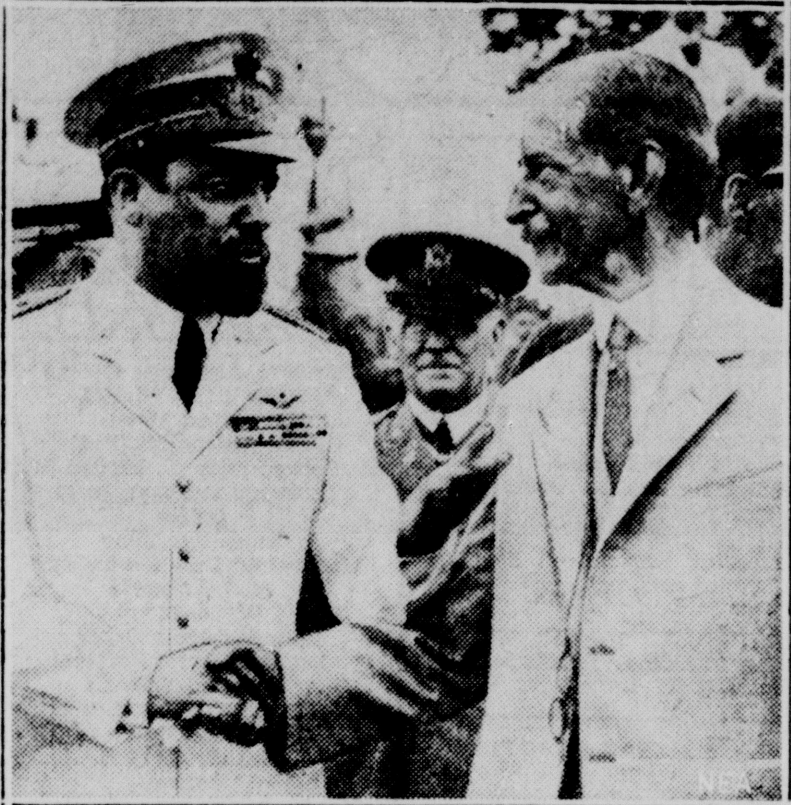

By Myself, he said, we mean the I within the Me, the shy and lonely self which no one, except God, can ever see and know. The I within us watches the Me, takes note of all it does. It can detach itself, at least in thought, and see how unlike the Me is to Myself.

How keenly we feel the difference at times, in ourselves and in our fellows! Often we are not attracted to a man when we first meet him. But later, when we are nearer to him and know him better, we discover that he is quite different from what we thought he was.

We feel it most acutely when we try to draw our friends nearer to us. They can come so far, then a door closes. We and they hear it click, but we cannot open it and they have no key to it. It makes the mystery, the pathos, the loneliness of life which all must bear.

In the busy street I am just myself, a solitary island in the midst of a sea of humanity. Nor can I ever get away from myself, no matter how hard I try. By real life, for joy or woe, is in myself; "I myself am heaven and hell," a Persian poet sang, wherever I may be hereafter.

At death the image of myself—the Me which men see—may vanish; it is not my real self. But I myself am a thing in myself, a fact, a force, a part of the real, and cannot cease to be. It is a light inextinguishable, and many winds cannot blow it out. In the words of Tennyson:

"My own dim life should teach me this, that life shall live for evermore, else earth is darkness and ashes all that is."

Wee Duncy gladly drew some more and made the little school fish roar. And then he wrote some numbers and exclaimed, "Well, who can add?"

"I'll be your teacher for a spell and, very shortly, I can tell which one of you is pretty good, and which is very bad."

One fish said, "That's a real mean trick. Gee, we don't like arithmetic. Let's play some kindergarten games, like all the small fish do."

"Our daily lessons are all done and now we're ready for some fun we never like to keep on working, when we're really through."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Scouty. "You are like me. That's just the way I used to be. I never did like school work, but I got along all right."

"I found it was best to do my work. It never did pay me to shirk. One day my teacher said, 'You are a real bright Tinymite.'"

Just then they heard a large bell ring and Goppy shouted, "What's that thing?" "Why, school is out," said the teacher. "All the little fish are free."

"Why don't you Tinymites run outside? They'll name some games that can be tried." "All right," replied one Tiny, "All you fish come follow me."

A grand rush through the big schoolhouse door and they were all outside once more. Two large fish promptly left the rest and Scouty shouted, "Hey!"

"I know what you are going to do. Be careful! I am warning you. Don't grab hold of that hook, or you will both be yanked away."

"A fisherman is up above, and, my, oh my, how he would love to pull you to the surface. That's what he is fishing for."

"Now, not for my good, but your own, just let that great big hook alone. If you are smart, I will not have to warn you any more."

"Duncy plays a trick on the fisherman in the next story."

THINK HORNSBY DOOMED TO FEEL CARDINALS' AXE

Promotion Of Frisch To Managership Is Back Of Report

St. Louis, July 25.—(AP)—Frankie Frisch, one of the few collegians to jump directly from college campus into big league baseball and stick, will make his debut as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals today against the Cincinnati Reds.

The Fordham Flash was named pilot of the Redbirds yesterday, succeeding Charles E. "Gabby" Street, who had been at the helm of the Cardinals since 1930.

Although eight games behind the league-leading New York Giants, Frisch was somewhat optimistic about St. Louis' chances.

"If we can get the winning spirit," he said, "we may be up there on top in October."

Following his release, Street went to his home at Joplin, Mo., without discussing his future plans except to deny a report that he was planning to buy the Joplin Western League club.

Hornsby To Go?
Meanwhile a feeling existed, the Globe-Democrat today said, that the next man to leave the Cardinals would be Rogers Hornsby.

This feeling was strengthened, the paper stated, when Branch Rickey, vice president of the club, asked whether the change in managers would affect the status of Hornsby, declared:

"I don't want to discuss that now."

"That would indicate some doubt as to Hornsby's future with the Cardinals?" he was asked.

"I don't know about that," Rickey replied, "but I can't discuss Hornsby's position now."

Hornsby, who led the Cardinals to a world championship in 1926, returned to the club this spring, after being let out at Chicago last summer. After the close of the 1932 season, he was traded to the New York Giants in exchange for Frisch.

When Bill Killefer resigned as manager of the St. Louis Browns last week, reports were current that the Rajah might succeed him.

Broadway's Welcome To Balbo

A welcome New York reserves only for its heroes was accorded to General Italo Balbo and the gallant men of his armada in their triumphal march up Broadway to City Hall to be formally greeted by Mayor John P. O'Brien. This was the colorful scene during the procession as General Balbo's car proceeded slowly up the famous thoroughfare amidst a deluge of swirling ticker tape.

In Moscow, several families, as a rule, share a communal kitchen in which they do their cooking.

CHRISTOPHER WADSWORTH

(Contributed)

Christopher Wadsworth, a pioneer of Ogle county of 1845, was a resident of township of Grand Detour from the time of his removal there to the time of his death in 1874. He was born in Jefferson, Frederick Co., Md., Feb. 23, 1807 and was the second son of Samuel and Mary Wadsworth.

Christopher Wadsworth, the progenitor of the family in America, came to this country from England and landed on the Atlantic coast, Sept. 16, 1802. He and his brother, Will, located in Danbury, Mass. The children of the former scattered in various directions, some of them settling in Pennsylvania and some in Maryland. From the latter the descendant and namesake who is the central figure of this account sprung. He was in the same line from his ancestral stock as Longfellow, who perpetuated in his second name the family patronymic, which was the maiden name of his mother. The line is traceable from Wadsworth, the poet laureate of England in the reign of Victoria, and is one of the celebrated Lake poets. The name Wadsworth and Wadsworth are synonymous.

Christopher Wadsworth was married Oct. 23, 1836 at Jefferson, Md. to Matilda, daughter of Henry and Mary Feaster of that place. Of this union the issue was twelve children, one of whom died in infancy. Of the eleven who lived to maturity, B. F. of Oregon, Ill. and S. D. of Council Bluffs, Ia. were the only ones to remain unmarried.

D. F., the eldest, married Martha Ray of Akron, O. and was a resident of Ishpeming, Mich. Mary E. married J. F. Gantz of Ogle county and they lived at Oregon, J. W. married Josephine Goble of Dixon, Ill. and was a resident of that place. Emeline married F. H. Eakle of Polo, Ill.; they lived at Harmon, Ill.; Martha A. married Lucius Walls of Moline and lived at Council Bluffs, C. T. married Alice Dana of Grand Detour and lived at this place. Samuel B. married Anna E. Etnyre of Oregon, Ill. were they lived. Margaret A. married Samuel M. Gantz and they lived at Dixon. Louisa married Noah Brown of Dixon and they lived at Highland Center, Ia.

In 1842 Mr. and Mrs. Wadsworth removed to Ogle county and located in the township of Grand Detour, where the former was occupied as a farmer. He selected the valley of the Rock River through association of his earlier years, which had imbued him with a love of natural scenery such as that which had surrounded his youth and given him an abiding love for hills and vales and flowing streams, such as he found in Ogle county, which justly claims some of the finest natural scenery in this country.

Here, nestled among the hills, he lived in his cozy little home until called to that better and fairer country where flowers never fade and the sunshine never grows less bright. He led an honorable and useful life and won the endearing esteem of all who knew him. He was especially prominent for his generous consideration of the poor.

Christopher Wadsworth was respected and esteemed by all who knew him and though he aspired to no public emolument he might have been elected to high positions had he been willing to accept them. In religion he was a Universalist and in politics a Democrat. The partner of his life joys and sorrows shared in his views and hand in hand they wandered down the hills of life. Mr. Wadsworth departed this life Sept. 12, 1874 at his old homestead and was buried in Grand Detour township.

His son, Christopher T. Wadsworth was born in Ogle county Dec. 23, 1843 and died at Byron July 19, 1933 at the age of 84 years—six months and 23 days. He is survived by five children, Robert H. of Dixon, Christopher T. and Myrtle A. of New Orleans, La., and Goldie of Oregon. Nina A., a daughter, passed away in infancy.

Vines' Injury Is Not Permanent One

Paris, July 25.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines, Jr., and Berton S. Prentice, captain of the United States Davis Cup team, today denied published reports that the ankle injury suffered by Vines in his match with Fred Perry Sunday might result in permanent injury. Both said no specialist had examined Vines, as was reported, and the doctor who attended him after the match did not suggest the injury was a permanent one.

IT'S LUCKY DAY FOR WORLD'S FAIR VISITOR CHOSEN FOR KISSING GAME IN BELGIAN VILLAGE STREET SHOW

CHICAGO, July 20.—Kisses are words in a universal language.

Perhaps that explains why thousands of visitors to the Chicago World's Fair—A Century of Progress—roar their applause to the colorful street festival that daily makes the market square of "Picturesque Belgium" one of the gayest and loveliest spots of the Fair.

Nestling intimately in the heart of this Belgian Village, with its houses and chapels and shops built from actual moulds of Old World buildings that date from the 13th century, is an outdoor stage, surrounded by dining tables and beer garden balconies, and terraced in by a broad expanse of cobblestone steps leading upward to a cluster of hillside shops and the setting sun.

Kisses to Music.
At the start of every hour sight-seers scramble for seats on the steps and at the tables to watch the flaxen-haired maidens and peasant boys of old Belgium present their native folk-dances and songs with a spontaneous pleasantry and delightful naivete that spring from happy hearts. The rhythmic waltzes, dainty and graceful for all the clumsiness of the heavy wooden shoes of the dancers, own a charm that is well appreciated, even though most of the onlookers have never been abroad, know little of the customs and traditions of the "old country", and understand little or nothing of the symbolism of the dances.

But in the grand finale—the "kissing game"—is a world of clean, fast fun thoroughly understood. A kiss is a kiss, be it in Brussels or Chicago, Moscow or Mayfair, Paris or Tangier.

To the strains of the lilting music, the boys and girls dance about the stage in a circle, with one boy or girl alone in the center. The dancer in the center chooses a partner of the opposite sex from the outside ring, and the two then become the leaders of the dance. At given breaks in the music they kneel, and first he kisses her, then she kisses him. Dancers of the circle follow suit.

Game Pleases Crowd.
It's great fun, but the big laughs are yet to come. There is a pause in the music. One of the peasant boys leaps from the circle and takes the hand of a girl selected at random from the audience. Then she must become his partner in the center of the dance. When the dance is over, all the boys rush to initiate the new dancer with their kisses, much to her embarrassment and to the merriment of the onlookers. The stunt is then repeated with a boy from the audience.

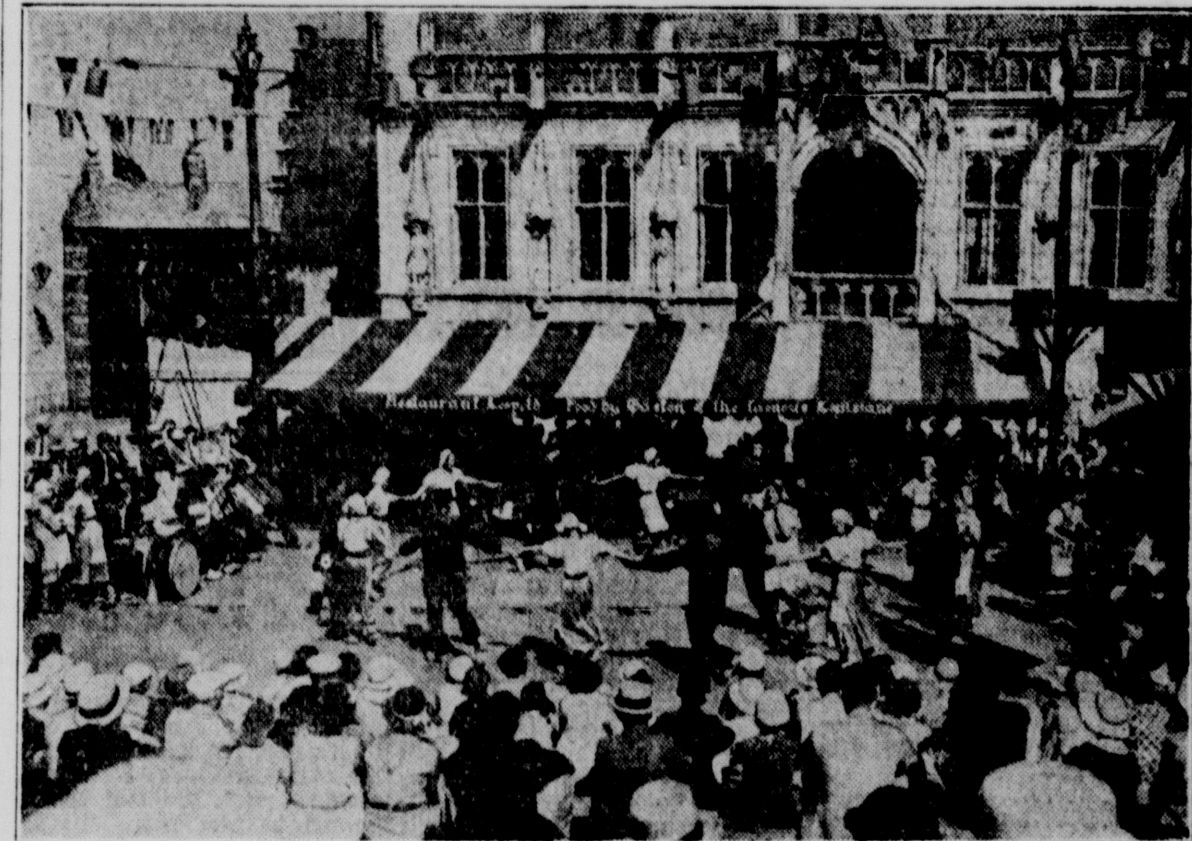

After the show coins rain from the seats of the amphitheater and the dancers are thrown into a mad scramble for the money, more than often with comic results.

When visitors leave the kissing game, they are sure to have become genuine admirers of the Belgian Village, and are ready to accept the more serious beauty of it in a proper mood.

Display Famed Painting.
There is plenty of beauty about the historic old buildings. Here is Antwerp's St. Nicholas church, built in 1450 as a chapel of the shoemakers' guild; here is a convent house from Diest, a home from Tonal, the house of the Hangman of Bruges (1300). There is the gateway where Napoleon spent his last night before Waterloo; there is St. Donatus bridge of Bruges in 1200, with its water mill and pond of swans; there is the beautiful city hall of Damme; in the distance the slim white watch tower "Pagode" of Antwerp. All about are guards, attendants, bar-maids and peasant girls in the authentic and gaily-hued costumes of the 16th century. Hours without end may easily be spent in the dozens of quaint shops where Dresden China, laces, and other articles are sold, or in the shops of the glassblowers and "koper smids".

Almost hidden away in a little building on St. Nicholas plaats is a quiet note of piety in contrast to the rest of the town, and one of the most important exhibits in the village. It is the world-famed painting, "The Crucifixion and Transfiguration of Christ," by Silvio Pailin, brought from the cathedral of Brussels. Valued at $250,000, and the work of nearly 12 years, it is unique, in that the eyes of the Saviour appear to open to the holy light from heaven as the watcher gazes upon it. It is said to be the only painting wherein the artist has succeeded in representing both death and life eternal on a single canvas.

ERRORS HELPED TO DEFEAT LEE CENTER SUNDAY

LaMoille Profited By Them To Win By A Score Of 6 To 5

Lee Center, July 24—Errors contributed largely to the defeat of Lee Center, Sunday, at LaMoille. At the latter place, by a score of 6 to 5. Rain served to delay the game in the latter innings, which added to the many arguments earlier, served to drag it out. Next Sunday Welland plays at Lee Center and the fans anticipate a hot contest. ## Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER
Bill Killefer was a great catcher in his day, but as manager of the St. Louis Browns he found he couldn't catch the fast ones they heaved at him from the front office. So he goes Bill and in steps Al Sothoron, once great spitball pitcher.

Sothoron was more than a spitball pitcher in his day. He had devious ways of what ball players call "mussing up" a baseball to make it perform strange pranks.

Umpires tossed out of the game hundreds of new balls marred by peculiar defects when Sothoron was on the slab.

Once in St. Louis, umpires carefully examined a dozen balls and found each suffering the same symptoms: a slice along the seam which caused a rough spot. The cut was as sharp as though inflicted by a razor blade. The effect was startling—the old apple would dart at a 45-degree angle as it reached the plate.

THEY BUNTED HIM OUT—
Sothoron's story as a pitcher is a strange one. When he came up to the Browns in 1914, he was recognized as one of the richest prizes ever found. Besides his sweeping spitter he had a good fast one, a curve, control, change of pace—just about everything that a great pitcher requires.

SENATORS AGAIN TOP YANKEES IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Trounced Mack's Star Pitchers For Twin Win Monday

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Through the once impregnable pitching armor of the Philadelphia Athletics' twin mound aces, Bob Grove and George Earnshaw, the Washington Senators have blasted their way once more to the top of the American League standing.

Taking advantage of the New York Yankees' idleness, the Senators battered the A's into defeat in both games of a doubleheader yesterday, 5-2 and 10-6 and moved into first place by a half game margin. The third-place Athletics, at the same time, fell to a point 11 games behind the Yankees, thus emphasizing again the two-club character of the pennant race.

Grove, who had won six games in a row, was the victim of bunched hits in the second and fourth innings. The Senators scored three runs in the second on four safeties and two in the fourth, coupling three hits with an error. Grove's defeat was his fifth against 15 victories. Bob Burke, who has started only three games for Washington all year and won them all, allowed only two hits in the five innings he worked, one a home run by Mickey Cochrane, but w/ relieved by Jack Russell after Roger Cramer singled and Cochrane walked with none out in the sixth. Russell halted that threat and allowed only two hits the rest of the way, one being Bob Johnson's tenth homer.

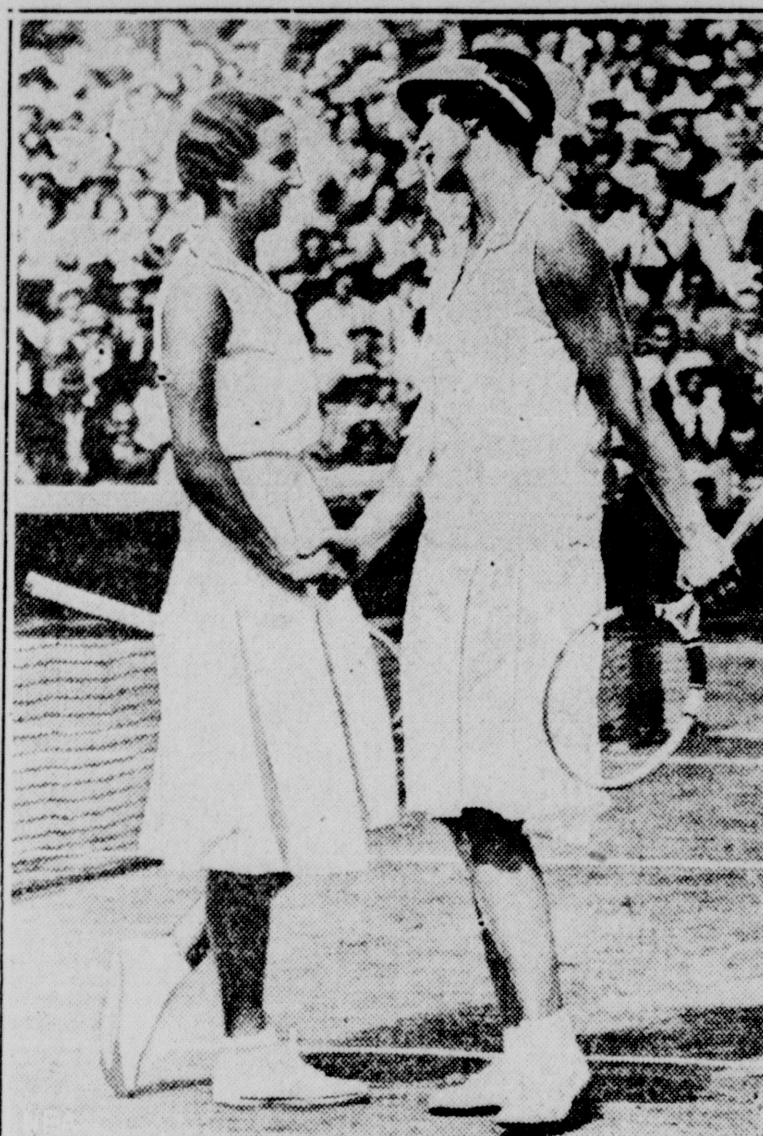

The Senators' drubber Earnshaw for 11 hits and eight runs in seven innings in the second game which wouldn't even have been close except for a five-run rally, climaxed by Jimmie Fox's 11th homer in the ninth. Alvin Crowder pitched his 14th victory but lost control in the sixth and was replaced by Bill McAfee, young relief ace. McAfee secured the side then without a score but his later exertions at the plate where he produced a triple and a home run took their toll in the ninth and Russell again had to be summoned after the A's had scored five times.

This double-header marked the only competition in either league but the National circuit reached the headlines when the St. Louis Cardinals announced the appointment of Frank Frisch to succeed Gabby Street as Cardinal manager.

OAK RIDGERS IN LATE RALLIES TO OVERCOME OHIO'S

Kept Pounding Away At Five-Run Handicap To Triumph

Oak Ridge pounded out a 9 to 5 win over Ohio last Sunday at the Oak Ridge diamond.

Joe Miller, pitching for the Ridgers, allowed 8 hits, four of them in the second inning with a walk and a fielder's choice netted the boys from Ohio to five runs for a 5 to 0 lead. The Oak Ridgers scored one in the second again till the sixth when the two McGraths singled and went to second and third bases on an infield out. McConaughy drove a single into right field to score both runs. In the seventh they tied the score. Hilliker led off with a single was forced at second by Reilly, Kehrt sent a sharp single over third base. Shires Miller drove the ball into left center for a single, scoring Reilly, Kehrt pulling up at third base. Ed McGrath drove a long fly into center field to score Kehrt with the tying run.

The Oak Ridgers batted around in the eighth inning getting 5 hits and 4 runs to end the scoring for the day.

Ohio got two hits in the ninth but could not score.

CHICAGO BOARD SUSPENDS FIRM OF CRAWFORD CO.

"Inability To Meet Obligations" Reason For Its Action

Chicago, July 24—(AP)—Edward A. Crawford, member of the Board of Trade, was suspended from all privileges for "inability to meet obligations," exchange officials announced today.

Crawford's membership was registered for the firm of E. A. Crawford & Company, 60 Wall Street, New York.

Because of regulations of the Exchange, it was impossible to ascertain the reason for Crawford's inability to meet obligations. The grain futures administration is not allowed by law to reveal details of any traders position in grains nor the extent of his holdings.

Exchange official flatly refused to say anything about Crawford beyond the bare announcement of his suspension and the reason.

Crawford was originally a dentist in New Orleans, men along LaSalle street who know him, said. He first became known as a speculator in cotton in New Orleans. Later he transferred his activities to New York and to the stock market. Grains came afterward and he spent several weeks in Chicago this summer, acquaintances said, but none of them professed to know his present whereabouts.

The Daily News, commenting on the Crawford suspension, said it was the talk along La Salle street that a speculative pyramid which might have rivaled the great fortunes of the country had collapsed.

Although impossible to boil down to known facts, the news asserted that market rumor credited Crawford with being one of the most daring speculators of the inflation market, amassing at one time holdings of 13,000,000 bushels of corn and a tremendous amount of rice.

If these rumors were true, the News estimated he would have profited $1,300,000 on every ten cents advance in corn alone, and would have lost at a similar rate on the decline.

SOUTH DIXON

By Mrs. Lautzenheiser
South Dixon — Mrs. Wm. Lynn and daughter, Miss Marian of Aurora, are visiting for a few days with relatives.

Miss Julia Brechon was a Dixon visitor on Tuesday.

Miss Helen Harmon and brother Donald entertained their Sunday School class, of the Eldena church at a party, Saturday evening.

Miss Freda Seifkin has been visiting with Chicago relatives for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Meeks visited with Mrs. Rudolph Schmitters, Mrs. Alsuma Howard and Mrs. Jesse Lautzenheiser, on Thursday.

Miss Mayme Conroy, Mrs. Katherine Klein and Mr. and Mrs. J. Lautzenheiser were Sunday visitors at the August Grohens home.

Master Robert Perry, of Dixon spent the week with Wayne Hoyle. Lee Spangler assisted Harold McCleary with farm work during the past week.

Mrs. Roy Fisher was hostess to the South Dixon Community club on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Wilford Brechon and two daughters of Dixon, were Tuesday visitors at the J. P. Brechon home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wakey, two daughters and son, of Osco, Ill., were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Parrish of Eldena on Sunday. In the afternoon they visited with their many friends in that vicinity.

On Sunday, the South Dixon Community Club held their annual picnic, at the Wm. Remmers home north of Grand Detour.

A bountiful picnic dinner was enjoyed by all. Many games were entered into by the children and grown-ups, too. Each one voiced their thanks for the pleasant time spent with Mr. and Mrs. Remmers.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Welsa and family spent Sunday evening at the Lloyd Hoyle home.

Friends of the late Thomas Hov attended his funeral which was

Where 250 Whales Met Their Jonah

Some of them weighing three tons, 250 whales recently were washed up on the beach between Cormorant Point and East Cape Sable in southernmost Florida. Scientists explain that the whales, pursuing a school of fish, were caught in the shallows when the tide went out. Fishermen believe the whales were poisoned or thrown up by a submarine disturbance. The picture shows three whales on the beach.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Most of the new senators who came in with the new 'deal' observed the traditional silence of first-termers during the special session, but one or two of them figured in the outbursts that will cause them to bear watching in the future.

One was young Bennett Champ Clark, son of the former Speaker of the House, Junior Senator from Missouri.

Senator Clark gave every evidence from the start that he would not be content to sit idly by until he had learned the ropes. At that he enjoyed seniority over the first-termers, for Senator Haves resigned his seat in the seventy-second congress so Clark might get preference in committee assignments.

Young Clark had been in the senate but a short while when he made his bow. It was on the side of Huey Long. Clark came to the 'kingfish's' support in his political troubles down in Louisiana.

NO SILENT SPECTATOR—

He has bobbed up frequently in senate debates. He was quite active when the economy bill was up for consideration and was one of the senators who led the fight for confirmation of Guy T. Helvering of Kansas for commissioner of internal revenue.

Nevada's new senator, the plump white-haired Pat McCarran, is another first termer who struck out rather boldly in the special session. It was McCarran who sought to stop progress of the administration's economy plan through the senate by a parliamentary move. He tried to get the bill sent to the judiciary committee, but was snowed under by a three-to-one vote.

Defeat didn't down him, however. A few minutes after the roll call he was in a squabble with Senator Glass of Virginia. Glass had made a scarcely audible remark which McCarran caught and jumped to his feet to claim the floor on personal privilege.

HE TACKLED GLASS—

He warned Glass that he wanted "to put a stop to such remarks" and declared that if they weren't stopped he would "invoke the rule of the senate."

There are few senators, even among the old-timers, who care to get into an argument with Glass, but the reputation of the Virginian did not stop McCarran.

He is a product of the southern Nevada mining boom days. Formerly a district attorney in the center of the Tonopah boom, he has gone far in the judiciary of Nevada, but retains many characteristics born of gold rush times.

A BOOK A DAY

"The Massacre of Glencoe," by John Buchan, is the first of a new series of books being issued under the general heading, "Great Occasions." It is the aim of the publishers to make each book a graphic sketch of some dramatic moment in history, and—judging by the first of the series—the idea ought to result in some very interesting reading matter.

Mr. Buchan's book deals with that singularly cruel and treacherous bit of wholesale murder by which the English, in 1692, sought to persuade the wild highland clans of Scotland that any further resistance to the British crown would be worse than useless.

The British felt that they had to make an example of some clan. They dared not pick a large one, for King William was engaged in a war in Flanders at the time and couldn't spare too many troops; so a small group of some 150 persons was marked for slaughter.

Troops were sent to the isolated glen where this clan lived. The soldiers made friends with the inhabitants, were feasted by them, were entertained in their homes; then, early on a cold winter morning, they turned on them, and began shooting them down in cold blood.

Even then they bungled the job. Some 35 clansmen were slain, and perhaps an equal number perished in flight over the mountains; but the clan as a whole survived and returned to its valley, the outrage helped to revive the dying Jacobite sentiment among the highlanders—and, all in all, the venture stands as one of the most senseless bits of thuggery ever indulged in by a responsible government.

EQUIPOISE IS NOT AFTER BIG MONEY RECORDS

His Next Race Will Be Whitney Mile At Saratoga

New York, July 25 (AP)—With the Wilson mile on the opening day of Saratoga, August 3, his next objective, C. V. Whitney's Equipoise today was at the upstate track preparing for a campaign that is expected to carry him money winners near if not to the top of the turf's. Although heavily engaged at the Spa and the Chicago tracks, the five-year-old son of Pennant and Swinging, holder of the world's record of 1:34 2-5 for one mile, faces no easy task in earning the nearly $2,000 he needs to pass Sun Beau's mark of $376,744. Equipoise, fifth on the world's list and fourth on the American has won $294,820.

Except for the $25,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup, a weight for age event which will be run either August 16 or 19, the diminutive Whitney speedster's engagements are all in small stakes, most of them $3,500 or less.

Although eligible for eight races at the Spa, Equipoise probably will not start in more than two or three. T. J. Healey, his trainer, has outlined a program that definitely includes only the Wilson.

Brief Summary of Last Night's News

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

JACKSONVILLE—Two men, one of whom was injured, were seized in a wrecked automobile near Murrayville and charged by police with a $23 robbery five minutes before at the LaCross Lumber Company at Murrayville. The injured man gave his name as Frank Crawford, 23, while the other said he was Andrew Logan, 54. Police said the car had been stolen shortly before from R. C. Barton, Jacksonville, who was left bound in a corn crib.

LASALLE—Police were embarrassed to have to announce that someone had sneaked into headquarters and snatched their machine gun from a locked cabinet. It was suggested that a duplicate key might have been used as the lock bore no evidences of having been forced.

CHICAGO—Charles B. Beedell, 24, doesn't like to be made fun of when engaged in his business of "barking" at a World's Fair concession and a court agreed with him by fining John Zogrodnik, 20, Milwaukee, $1 for giving Beedell the "horse laugh." Incidentally, Beedell previously settled the score between himself and Zogrodnik by giving him a sound thrashing.

SULLIVAN—There was no mistake made when monthly electric light bills were mailed out marked "paid," officials of the municipal light plant said. It was just their way of sharing the $50,000 surplus they said the plant had earned.

CHICAGO—The resignation of General Thomas S. Hammond as President of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association was announced. He will devote his time to the duties of executive officer under General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the National Industrial Recovery act.

ST. CHARLES—Two local residents were killed in automobile accidents. Swan Johnson, 56, when he was struck while crossing a street, and Stephen Guth, 36, when a California-bound car ran over him.

CHICAGO—Bearing an invitation to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to speak at the World's Fair grounds, August 15, designated as Women's Day during farm week, Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and Clifford Gregory of the Prairie Farmer, said they would leave today for Washington.

ELGIN—When Edwin Beimer's automobile struck a gasoline car of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railroad near East Elgin, Ole Tjelle, 47, of near Elgin, was killed and nine workmen were injured. Beimer, 19, was held for appearance at the inquest.

CHICAGO—A minimum price scale of 50 cents for finger waves and shampoos; $5 for a permanent wave; $5 for hair dyeing and $1 for facials, was set by Illinois beauty shop owners who at the same time set minimum weekly wages for employees from $15 to $20. Their code also provided for an eight-hour working day.

Miss Bell yesterday played steadily over the Evanston Golf Club course and posted an 89. Miss Estabrook had a 91. Janet Humphries, Chicago, the defending champion, who was exempt from qualifying, had Alice Ann Anderson, Kenosha, Wis., who qualified with 90, as her opponent. Other partners and qualifying scores: Hilda Livenood, Danville, Ill., 90, and Shirley Ann Johnson, Chicago, 91; Goldie Bateson, Milwaukee, 90, and Ella May Williams, Elgin, Ill., 92.

LaSalle, Ill., July 25 (AP)—Two robbers raided a drug store here Sunday night, herded the owner, a clerk and four patrons into a rear room and robbed them of about $400. One patron, H. E. Dunkel of Chicago, lost $191 and another, M. B. Rowland, Chicago, lost $9. Rowland saved most of his money by dropping a wallet onto a waste basket. The drug store till was intact of $200.

AIMEE IS BACK; DIVORCE TRIAL WAITS IN WEST

Her Attorney Flies East To Meet Her— Brings Shore Clothes

Norfolk, Va., July 25 (AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, the fair-haired evangelist, returned to America today from her world tour.

She returned with the sensational divorce proceedings of her third husband, the portly David Hutton, facing her in Los Angeles.

The liner City of Havre, which bore the pastor of the Temple of the Four-Square Gospel from France, was to pause in Norfolk for part of the day before proceeding to Baltimore where she is to disembark tomorrow.

Her attorney was to meet her in Baltimore with first hand information of the divorce and also with trunks containing fashionable wearing apparel. He left Los Angeles several days ago by plane to be with her when she landed.

Asked For Clothing
The apparel was taken in response to a message to Miss Hutton, chief lieutenant of the Temple, asking to "please send hats and dresses for landing wear."

Since the evangelist left Los Angeles some months ago, her husband not only has instituted the divorce proceedings, in which he charged he was just her "pet poindie" but he also has left the service of her Temple, where his lusty baritone once was heard, to start a vaudeville tour.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 25 (AP)—The federal government was striking at the kidnap racket today, aiming at Roger Touhy, Chicago gang chieftain, and three of his associates as the alleged abductors of William Hamm, Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer.

Touhy and his three lieutenants, were closely guarded in the county jail here while the government prepared to ask their removal to St. Paul, where they face charges of kidnapping Hamm.

The government planned to take Touhy and his men before U. S. Commissioner Floyd E. Jenkins today. Federal authorities said they believed the gangsters would resist removal. In that event, a hearing would be held before Federal Judge F. A. Geiger.

The warrants naming Touhy and his men, Willie Sharkey, Eddie McFadden and "Gloomy" Gus Schaeffer, were drawn under the new anti-kidnaping law. They charge interstate transportation of Hamm, specifically that he was taken from St. Paul to the vicinity of Beloit and Janesville.

Melvin Purvis, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Investigation at Chicago, said the government has positive identification of all four men. He declined to say whether Hamm, who viewed the men in Chicago on Sunday, made the identification.

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Under the leadership of Frankie Frisch, who stepped into the shoes of Gabby Street as manager, the St. Louis Cardinals gave the Quincy Warriors of the Mississippi Valley League, a 10 to 1 lacing in an exhibition game last night.

Frisch did not play. The Cards started their scoring streak in the first inning when Hornsby hit a homer with two men on bases. And in the fourth Joe Medwick hit another circuit run with one man on. Quincy got only four hits off of Dazzy Vance and Bill Walker, while the Cards got 13.

NICE WAGE BOOST
Pittsburgh, July 25 (AP)—"White collar" employees of U. S. Steel subsidiaries—including the Carnegie Steel Company, American Bridge Company and American Steel and Wire Company—received a 15 per cent salary increase retroactive to July 16.

The increase is in line with a similar advance in pay granted wage workers on the same date.

Harrisburg, Ill., July 24 (AP)—John Davis of this city was arrested late Saturday on an assault to murder charge filed by Melvin Henry, vice president of the Progressive local union of Peabody mine 43, whose home was the target for pistol shots midnight Friday.

WAGE CONTROVERSY
Benton, Ill., July 24 (AP)—A labor controversy is holding up work of surfacing of the fills on the highway between West Frankfort and Zeigler. The state is willing to pay 35 cents an hour for labor while the West Frankfort Trades Council is insisting 50 cents an hour be paid.

The present day worth of the checks in an average man's body is a little over $45; five years ago they were valued at about $85.

BARGAIN BRIDIE

by KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELINOR STAFFORD falls in love with BARRETT COLVIN. She is 20 and he is 35. LIDA STAFFORD, Elinor's jealous, scheming mother, breaks up the romance by convincing Barrett that Elinor is a heartless flirt.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live as a guest in his home for a year he will give her the entire SEXTON fortune to divide among her relatives, the rightful inheritors. Knowing the money may save her father's life, Elinor agrees.

The marriage takes place. Barrett, still believing the lies Lida has told him, finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. The doctor orders a change of climate for her father and Elinor goes to Aiken with him.

Years before Barrett absconded his half-sister, MARCIA RADNOR, when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. He has promised Marcia never to reveal the boy's story. Lida Stafford learns about the boy's existence and concludes he is Barrett's son.

Barrett makes an unannounced trip to Aiken. He finds BOB TELFARE there and suspects Elinor of carrying on a flirtation with him. In an angry scene he tells her that he knows all about her affairs. Later he apologizes.

That night Bentwell Stafford dies. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVIII

BARRETT arose with a jerk and took the stairs two at a time. The nurse was waiting for him in the upper hall. She whispered, "Perhaps you can help Mrs. Colvin. She's worried about her. They were so devoted."

He opened Elinor's door without waiting to hear more, stepped into the room and closed the door after himself. A small night light was burning by the bed. Elinor lay there dry-eyed and too quiet. He crossed the room swiftly to lean above her.

"Child—!" he whispered. "I haven't anyone now," she said clearly.

"You have me as long as you want me. So long as there is anything I can do for you," he assured her.

He sat down on the edge of the bed and took one of her small hands between his. It was cold, twitching. He laid a hand on her bare shoulder and noticed that it was as cold as her hand. She looked questioningly at him.

"You're cold, Elinor." "Am I?"

He rubbed her hands, suddenly raised her and held her in his arms. For a moment she was rigid. Then she relaxed and he heard the first deep sob that shook her.

"Darling!" he whispered. "Darling!"

A half hour later Miss Hemmingsway entered the room after Barrett's "Come!" answered her knock. He was sitting in a deep chair before the fire he had started. Elinor, wrapped in blankets, was in his arms. She had been crying, Miss Hemmingsway saw with relief. That reaction was normal and reassuring. The girl had seemed too unnaturally contained.

"I brought another sleeping powder for Mrs. Colvin—" "Good!" said Barrett. Elinor sat up, drank it and then lay back. Miss Hemmingsway saw the man's arms tighten as she closed the door.

"Am I tiring you?" Elinor asked. "Dearest, you could not tire me this way."

HE stroked her hair with a hand that had grown unsteady, bent his head until his cheek touched her cheek that was hot from tears.

"Yes—" "I want to ask you to give me another trial. Let me show you that I'm not so changeable as you think. I won't bother you in any way, I promise. Do you believe me?"

"What I want most from life now is to take care of you. Nothing else matters to me—" Her hand moved and for a second he felt that it pressed his hand faintly. He touched her soft hair with his lips, stared blindly at the leaping fire.

"I want a chance to make you care for me without feeling ashamed."

"I'm sorry I said that, Barrett. I know it's my fault that you can't care steadily—"

"But you'll find I can!" he promised. Why, he asked himself, had he expected the impossible from her? There were no women who did not, in some way, let men down. Marcia had and so had her fiery, sullen mother. Elinor's mother had been brutally frank in her revelations of the failings of her sex.

Miss Ella had felt that no form of saying was beneath her. They were obviously all alike, yet sometimes a man found one woman who compelled his love and thus a compromise. He had found Elinor. Doubtless Bob Telfare had held her as he did now but he told himself he must not think of that.

He moved gently so that he could look down at her face, pressed against his shoulder. She was so white, so pitifully white. "If I could kiss you," he thought, "and know you kissed no one else!"

She whispered softly, "You must be tired—" "No!"

"You're very good to me," she said in a drugged tone that was the result of pain and shock.

"I love you," he told her.

THE small French clock struck two sharp notes. Elinor slept and then woke with a cry to sob anew. He soothed her, felt her relax, and trembled, knowing that his touch could comfort her. At four he put her into bed without waking her. Then, lowering the night light, he settled in a small chair that stood near the fire died; the room turned black.

It seemed to him, waiting there for any need that she could have of him, that he had never been so close to a human soul as he was to her and without the faintest, physical touch. Perhaps, he realized.

"Mother is coming by plane," he heard her say. Barrett's brows drew close. For some reason beyond his dislike for her he dreaded Lida Stafford's coming.

Body Of Man Found Cremated In Trunk

Gary, Ind., July 24 (AP)—Police of Chicago were called in by Indiana authorities in an effort to identify the body of a man almost cremated in a blazing trunk, but the mystery still remained unsolved today.

Saturated with oil, the trunk bearing the body was found Saturday by Frank Kohlscheen on his farm five miles south of Cook, Ind. It was ablaze and the fire had spread to a wheat stack. Later the body was removed to Lowell, Ind., where Deputy Coroner Franklin Petrie said the victim was about 23 years old and had been killed by a bullet wound in the head. An attempt to trace the identity through the finger prints proved unsuccessful.

TRAINING CODE OF DAVIS CUP TEAM ATTACKED

May Be Investigated By Lawn Tennis Association

New York, July 25 (AP)—Ellsworth Vines' now-famous fainting spell on the red clay courts of Autel may be the starting point for an intensive investigation into this country's Davis Cup tennis training methods.

While newspaper observers, here and abroad, continued their attacks on the methods of Bernon S. Prentice, captain, and charged that America's two singles aces, Vines and Wilmer Allison, were over-trained and worked up to an excessive nervous pitch for the interzone finals against England, there were indications that a full explanation for the team's collapse would be demanded at the next annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

There was not a little criticism of America's Davis Cup methods at the last meeting and the new president Harry S. Knox, and western delegates, especially, are expected to force discussion of the debacle of Autel upon the convention floor.

The wrecking of American hopes to regain the Davis Cup generally was blamed on the pressure placed on the players, over-confidence and finally the apparently poor condition of Vines and Allison.

FARM ACT WILL BENEFIT WHEAT GROWERS OF ILL.

Will Mean Between 4 and 5 Millions It Is Now Estimated

Urbana, Ill., July 25—Cash benefits available to Illinois wheat growers participating in the wheat production control campaign of the agricultural adjustment act are estimated to total between $4,733,730 and $5,301,777, according to tentative figures announced by the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

The exact amount of the total benefits will depend upon the final allotment to the state and the price a bushel that is fixed as the compensating payment.

Whatever the state's allotment of bushels is, it will be based upon the 1928-1932 five-year average production of 31,558,200 bushels. Official county figures on the five-year average production have just been compiled by A. J. Surratt, agricultural statistician of the Illinois State Department of Agriculture, and released to county farm advisers by the extension service, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Tentatively, it is estimated that the state and the county allotments will be about 60 per cent of the five-year average production, this percentage being set because about 50 per cent of the wheat crop is consumed as human food in this country. On this basis the state would have an allotment of 18,934,920 bushels.

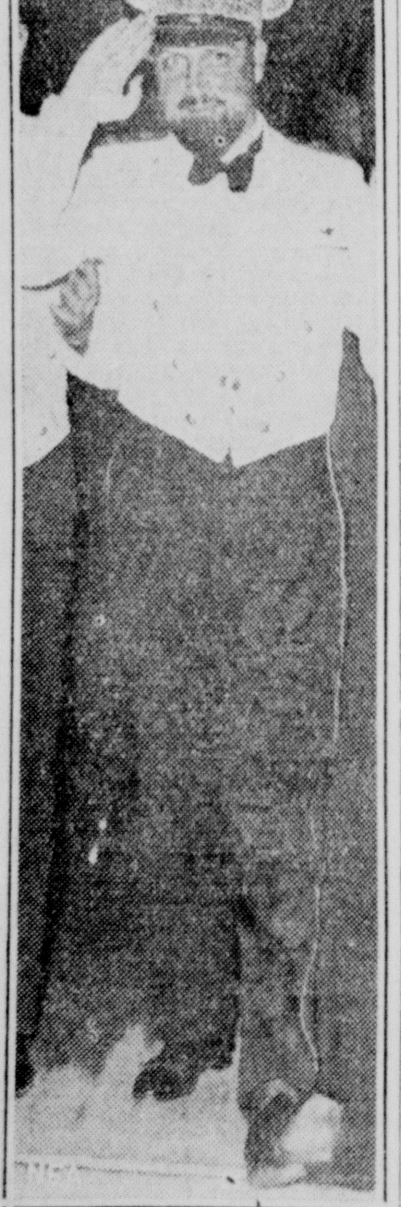

Also, while the bushel rate for the compensation payments on this allotment has not been announced, it probably will be around 25 to 28 cents a bushel.

Logan county farmers stand to profit the most from the wheat production control campaign, because their five-year average production of 1,179,180 bushels is the highest for the state. On the basis of tentative allotment percentages and benefit rates, farmers of Logan county would be paid a total of from $174,877 to $198,102 for co-operating in the movement.

St. Clair county, second in the state averages with a total of 1,139,580 bushels, would receive estimated benefits of from $170,937 to $191,440. Four other counties, Mason, Madison, Morgan and Sangamon, are ranking among the leaders with a five-year average production totaling more than a million bushels.

County farm advisers and other extension workers of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois will cooperate in the educational work and the preliminary organization of the wheat production control campaign, but the adjustment act, itself, is a Federal governmental measure and will be administered by the Federal Government.

W. F. PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER TO POULTRY RAISERS

The price of grain went up too fast and in the last few days wheat has dropped 20 to 25 cents and other grains in proportion.

That goes to prove what I have always said: That the prices of commodities tend to adjust themselves into their proper relationship.

Grain is what I like to call a "raw material." Very little of it is consumed in its natural state. It is made into flour or cereal, or is used to produce meat, poultry, eggs, milk, etc. Its "real" value is based on the value of the finished product.

Speculators pushed the price of grain above its real value. So it advanced much more rapidly than the price of the finished products and it couldn't stay there. It had to come down in line.

Don't Sell Light Springs!

I know a good many farmers felt they couldn't afford to feed their hogs. So they sold them.

And that is one of the things that kept the price of hogs down while the prices of other farm products were advancing. There were too many hogs being sold.

Let's not do the same thing with chickens.

Already in certain sections farmers appear to be selling their spring chickens lighter than usual. No doubt they began doing it because they thought it cost too much to feed them.

But I believe it is a mistake—particularly now with the price of grain back in line.

So I hope you're putting pounds on your birds. Get them up to 4 pounds at least before you sell them. And 5 pounds would be better.

Premium For Quality Again!

There's every reason for feeding for egg production now, too. Eggs are 1 to 2 cents higher than they were a year ago. And for the first time in two or three years it looks as if there will be considerable difference between the price of good eggs and the price of ordinary eggs. There will be a real premium for quality.

And you can't get good eggs unless you feed properly, unless you give the hens the raw materials they need to "manufacture" good eggs.

If you haven't been feeding for good gains and good production, I think you would be wise to start at once.

Yours truly,

Lee Co. Farm Bureau Affairs

Further steps toward formulating a definite plan to raise corn and hog prices will be taken at a meeting of a committee of county leaders in Chicago on July 24 and 25, according to information received by the Lee County Farm Bureau from the Illinois Agricultural Association.

At the corn-hog conference held last week at Des Moines in which 10 middle west states were represented, a national committee was appointed with Earl C. Smith, President of the Illinois Agricultural Association as chairman.

Members of the committee are as follows:

- Illinois—Earl C. Smith, C. A. Gregory and J. R. Fulkerson.
- Iowa—R. Carst, Ralph Meyer, R. M. Evans, Oscar Helene, and W. M. McArthur.
- Indiana—W. H. Settle, and C. Wickard.
- Missouri—R. W. Brown and Geo. H. Wilkerson.
- Nebraska—Don Hildebrand and H. G. Keeney.
- Kansas—J. H. Mercer.
- Ohio—F. G. Ketne and J. B. Wilson.
- South Dakota—H. B. Test.
- Minnesota—A. J. Oleson and C. B. Crandall.
- Wisconsin—John D. Jones.
- At Large—John A. Simpson, Ed O'Neal, Louis J. Tabor and Dr. Wolf.

This committee will work with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration first to formulate a definite program to raise corn and hog prices, and secondly, after a plan is adopted to assist the Administration in carrying it out.

Representatives of the Federal Government, including Dr. A. C. Black, corn-hog administrator, and meat packers as well as farm leaders will take part in the sessions, leading toward a solution of the price-raising problem on which the welfare of so many Illinois farmers depends.

RECOVERY FOOD SHOULD BE RICH IN 3 ELEMENTS

Nitrogen, Phosphorus And Calcium Needed In Human Food

Urbana, Ill., July 25—Now that better times are permitting many who were once unemployed and malnourished to enjoy three square meals a day again, they will recover faster if their diet includes foods which are especially rich in nitrogen, calcium and phosphorus, like milk, green, leafy vegetables and eggs, according to results of experiments conducted by Miss Julia Outhouse, of the home economics department, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Previous to her experiments no facts were available as to how the body adjusts itself to inadequate diets, such as were common during the depression and what foodstuffs are used in greatest amounts during periods of recovery.

"Depression" diets were fed to experimental rats for nine months in getting the facts. Glutelin from wheat was their only source of protein. The limited diets not only were inadequate but also were uneconomical, because the body was rendered unable to utilize the food eaten.

"During the nine months the rats attained only about one-fifth of their normal weight. Although their gain in weight was slight, their skeletal structures increased in all dimensions, but were not as large as those of adequately-fed rats of the same age. The animals lost markedly in muscle tone and hair and were of an extremely nervous instability. They were gaunt and lean looking.

When the feeding of an adequate diet was started, the first sign of an improvement was an increase in muscle tone with the disappearance of the nervous instability. Appetite increased and there was a marked gain in weight which lasted for a few days. Thereafter the gain in weight was very slow. After several weeks new hair appeared in the bald spots.

Metabolism studies made during this recovery period showed that although the increase in weight was slow, there was a marked storing of calcium, phosphorus and nitrogen throughout the period. This indicated the need for foods relatively rich in these constituents in order that normal weight and a good nutritive condition might be attained as rapidly as possible following a period of malnutrition, Miss Outhouse explained.

The well improved farm of Granville Reigle has been sold to William Schuler of Dixon, the deal being made through the George Fruin agency. This is a well improved farm in Palmyra and Mr. Schuler bought it as a safe investment. Mr. Fruin states that there is more inquiries for farms at this time than in the past five years.

SECTIONAL VOCATIONAL FAIR IN OREGON SOON

High School Pupils Of Section Will Exhibit There

The Sectional Vocational Fair for students in high school agriculture for Northwestern Illinois will be held at the Oregon fair grounds on August 31 and September 1.

The exhibits at this fair will be in classes of beef cattle, dairy cattle, swine, and sheep. This division of the fair was held in connection with the annual fall festival at Polo last year. There was a very large number of entries at this fair and according to present indications the number of entries this year will be even larger.

Only boys who have been students during the past year in high schools where vocational agriculture is being taught will be allowed to exhibit at this fair.

The high schools in section one, which have such a course, are as follows: Amboy, Ashton, Dakota, Dixon, Durand, Elizabeth, Franklin Grove, Lanark, Leaf River, Milledgeville, Mount Carroll, Orangeville, Pearl City, Prophetstown, Polo, Rochelle, Rock Falls, Stockton, and Tampico.

A small entry fee will be charged to exhibitors this year to defray expenses and publicity of the fair.

Rabies Outbreak In Bloomington Forces Quarantine On Dogs

Bloomington, Ill., July 25—(AP)—An outbreak of rabies brought a quarantine Monday in Bloomington and adjoining Normal. James E. Lee, railroad locomotive engineer, died last week of rabies after having been bitten by a dog in St. Louis. Two boys were given anti-rabies treatments after having been bitten here. There have been no outbreaks in Normal, but the quarantine was enforced because of the town's proximity to Bloomington. No dogs will be allowed unmuzzled on the streets of either town until August 21, by which time all dogs allowed at large will have been vaccinated.

WALLACE WILL SPEAK AT EXPO. FRIDAY, AUG. 18

Secretary Of Agriculture To Visit Big Fair In Chicago

Chicago—Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, will speak to the farmers of America at A Century of Progress Exposition on Friday, August 18, when they are assembled here for Farm Week at the World Fair, it was announced today. Mr. Wallace will arrive on Thursday, August 17 and spend some time in consultation with their leaders before the scheduled address.

He accepted the invitation yesterday of Mr. Clifford Gregory, editor and publisher of the Prairie Farmer, and Mr. Edward O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who arranged for Farm Week with officials of the Exposition. The week opens Sunday, August 13, and ends August 19. Mr. Wallace did not announce what his subject for the day would be but it is expected that he will discuss the recently passed legislation at Washington which made him veritable dictator of the destinies of the American farmer.

An invitation has also been extended to Henry Morgenthau, Jr., to speak on farm credits, and a delegation will leave Chicago shortly for Washington to ask Mrs. E. D. Roosevelt to come to Chicago and speak on Tuesday, August 15, Farm Women's Day.

A special meeting of railroad passenger agents of all the lines into Chicago was called for noon at the Hotel La Salle today for the purpose of making plans for the heavy influx of railroad traffic during this week. Special low rates and all expense tour will be announced.

For the six days of this week, which has been set aside to honor the progress of the farmer in the past hundred years every facility of the fair will be directed to the special purpose of informing and entertaining the farm people. Plans are now being made for educational tours which will give opportunity for farm people to come into quick contact with those features of the fair of primary interest to those engaged in the advancement of agricultural life.

Each of the great buildings on the fair grounds, including the Agricultural, Dairy, Electrical, Religious, Science, Horticultural, Social Science, etc., are—developing programs for Farm Week at the fair which will prove of great value to rural visitors.

The Exposition is now making arrangements through the housing bureau to prepare approved lists of inexpensive eating and living quarters so that farmers can make the trip to Chicago with economy.

Psychiatrist Says Be Sure To Have A Honeymoon As Start

Omaha, July 24—(AP)—Dr. George E. Neuhaus, Omaha psychiatrist, says he is a strong advocate of the time honored honeymoon as the proper way to begin married life.

"Suppose you decide," he said, "that after your marriage you'll go right to the apartment or house you're going to live in. Suppose you say to your friends, 'We aren't going to have a honeymoon.' Immediately they'll all say, 'Isn't it too bad John and Mary aren't going to have a honeymoon—we must see that they have a good time right at home!'"

"The result will be that you'll be besieged with invitations, phone calls and parties—worse than the most strenuous honeymoon."

Of course, for those who decide they can't afford a real honeymoon,
